

Please stop the unwanted phone solicitors. Many are high pressure professionals, who can be very intimidating. I always start by asking "Are you soliciting?", and many times they will say NO, yet that is exactly what they are doing. Many elderly are duped by these people out of what little they have; convinced by slick salesmen to do or buy something they don't need. In addition, they interrupt everything we do. Many have started out with questions that you will say yes to, just to get you agreeing with them; to set up a false rapport. Once they have you nodding along, they make their quick proposal, and often some kind of money-back guarantee. How many have ever pursued the money-back guarantee, even after dissatisfaction? How many others either just miss that guarantee deadline, or find the company has skipped town and left only a P.O. Box as a trail. I have years of experience getting burned on these things, and still find it hard myself to just to hang up. I have put our number on do not call lists, and still they call!! Help stop this invasion into people's homes and lives. Please!!
